

DOLLS OF THE LIVING DEAD

Fashion dolls have never had a hair-raising makeover like this, and they're certain to cause a stir! Sprinkle Halloween-colored jelly beans around the base of the dolls for contrasting color pop – when grouped together, they work great as a table accent or party feature focus. Tweens and teens will particularly have fun with this project!

You Will Need:

From Savers/Value Village

- A selection of fashion dolls; light-skinned dolls with blonde hair work best for this project

Other supplies

- White spray paint
- Black ballpoint pen or fine-tipped black permanent marker
- Doll stands (optional; easily found online)

Directions:

- 1) Clean undressed dolls with a damp cloth and allow to dry.
- 2) Spray several light coats of white spray paint all over the dolls, including light coats in their hair. Allow drying time between coats.
- 3) With the black ballpoint pen or fine-tipped permanent marker, decorate the faces with dark make-up. This can include dark lips, lining around the eye, thin eyebrows, circular swirling eyeliner and more – use your imagination!
- 4) Use your fingers to tease, matte and style the dolls' hair into the desired shape. The spray paint will make it naturally stick up and stay in place.
- 5) Place dolls in stands and set them around as a group. If you don't have doll stands, place them in a seated position.
